Please provide a brief description of the initiative you will promote at your booth and how it is linked to Blueprint 2020?

The Correctional Service of Canada (CSC) has developed a virtual tour of a federal institution. This online tour showcases various elements of maximum-, medium-, and minimum-security facilities. In line with Blueprint 2020, CSC leveraged new technologies to develop this innovative product.

How have employees been involved?
How can they get involved?

Visiting an institution is a key request from employees who work outside an institutional environment. For safety and security reasons, touring an institution can be difficult to accommodate. This virtual tour will give all CSC employees and Canadians the opportunity to experience an institution first-hand.

Do you have any lessons learned in implementing your initiative to share?

Working closely with all groups within an organization -- and keeping the lines of communication open -- are the keys to success. This means building on existing talents and in-house expertise. By developing a strong project plan, the end result is one that turns a vision into reality.

How can employees make use of your initiative? How easily could the initiative be replicated?

All employees can experience the virtual tour, as it can be accessed online through Canada.ca. It can be used as part of a new employee's orientation, or at any time in an employee's career. Other organizations could use this technology for situations where the challenges of allowing employees to be physically present are prohibitive, but giving them a virtual experience offers real and significant benefits.
