THE FUTURE OF FIRST NATIONS,
INUIT, AND MÉTIS BROADCASTING:
conversation & convergence

The gatherings entitled "The Future of First Nations, Inuit and Métis Broadcasting" aim to bring practitioners, policy makers and academics together for respectful and meaningful consultation to celebrate successes, discuss challenges and identify the terms of reference for the CRTC deliberations on The Native Broadcasting Policy. This event seeks to share decision making power with the people, and to assert indigenous rights to media democracy 'for as long as the waters flow'. Information from the convergences will be shared to ensure that any policy changes support the development goals that Indigenous media activists, broadcasters, and community members themselves identify.

The Project Team organizing these activities would like to acknowledge that this event will take place in Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq People. This territory is covered by the "Treaties of Peace and Friendship" which Mi'kmaq and Wolastoqiyik (Maliseet) people first signed with the British Crown in 1725. The treaties did not deal with surrender of lands and resources but in fact recognized Mi'kmaq and Wolastoqiyik (Maliseet) title and established the rules for what was to be an ongoing relationship between nations.
