I too am surprised that they report on minor adverse events like injection site reactions. I suspect these are significantly under-reported.

Below is what is written on the reporting form and it specifies the reports of interest are those that are 1) serious or 2) unexpected, regardless of seriousness.

Thanks Jen,
That is very interesting that is considered an adverse event, it is a side effect for sure but not an adverse event.
It would like saying drowsiness from gravol is an adverse event and not a side effect.
